Our evolution

The beginnings, a product born behind our bars

In the spring of 2019, we encountered a significant challenge managing the demand for cocktails across our venues throughout the Netherlands. This presented several issues including slow service to our clients, potential loss of revenue and a decline in the quality of our offerings due to time constraints. This challenge was exacerbated by a shortage of highly skilled bartenders in the market.

Determined to uphold the freshness and authenticity of our cocktails despite these obstacles, we embarked on a mission to discover pre-batched products that could meet the standards of a hospitality venue. Unfortunately, our search only yielded pasteurized product options, compromising both taste and freshness. As a result, we took the proactive step of initiating our own pre-batching experimentation.

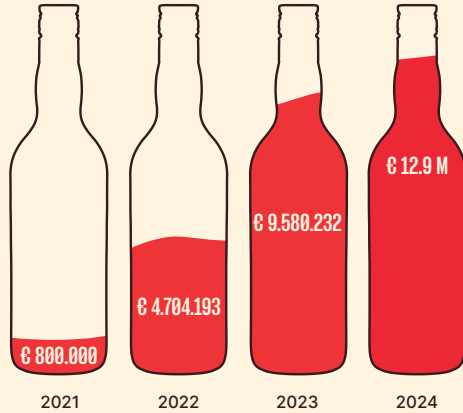

After months of trial and error, we eventually achieved perfection. Our persistent efforts yielded results that garnered the attention and interest of other establishments, leading to our current customer base of nearly 4,000 venues today.
